Preparing for worship

There's an interesting tradition in the English Boy Choir Schools. These are schools where young boys receive their education along with singing in cathedral choirs. As you would expect, the rehearsing and performing are extensive. There are hardly any worship services in those settings without a choir.

If you watch one of their rehearsals, you'll see a singer here and a singer there pop their hand in the air and then bring it down. To the uninitiated it's a puzzling thing to watch. Why do these seemingly random hands go up and down while they're learning new music?

What's happening is this: Each time a singer makes a mistake they raise their hand and then lower it. Why? It tells the conductor or teacher that the singer knows they've made a mistake. The first and most fundamental part of correcting an error is acknowledging that an error has been made.

That's what confession is. It's an acknowledgment that sin has occurred. We've made a mistake. Whether intentional or incidental, we've wronged someone else or wronged ourselves.

We've done something we know we shouldn't have, we've said something we shouldn't have, we've held an attitude we shouldn't have, etc.

Without confession, we continue in the same patterns that have failed us in the past. We fail to challenge our own way of being in the world and in so doing we remain trapped, unable to move forward in ways that are not only better for us, but better for everyone around us, including the ones we love.

We don't like to confess. It's not human nature. Even in the Garden of Eden, Adam and Eve weren't looking to take responsibility; they were looking for someone else to blame.

Confession requires taking responsibility. But before that, it requires looking at our lives and seeing what's there. What are we doing and thinking that needs some attention?

Let's raise our hands today when we sin. If not to the world around us, at least to God. The first step to correcting our sin is to acknowledge that we've sinned.

+Prayer of Confession and Assurance of Pardon

Georgia McKee

One: Repentance opens our hearts to God, who is waiting to hear us, forgive us, and save us.
Let us trust God's invitation and offer up a confession of our hearts.

All: God who formed us and knows our hearts, forgive us.
Instead of acknowledging you as our God,
we have constructed our own idols.
Instead of proclaiming Jesus Christ as Lord,
we have proclaimed and promoted ourselves.
Instead of turning to the Holy Spirit,
we have trusted our own understanding.
Forgive us and draw us ever to yourself;
for you are our hope, our rest, and our salvation.
Amen.

One: Friends, we see in this Holy Week the fullest expression of God's love for us.
For through the life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ
we can know peace with God in all its fullness.
In Jesus Christ, all is forgiven.

All: Hosanna, Hosanna in the highest! Blessed is the One who comes in the name of the Lord.
Thanks be to God!

Epistle Reading — Philippians 2:5–11

Sean Henry

Let the same mind be in you that was in Christ Jesus, who, though he existed in the form of God, did not regard equality with God as something to be grasped, but emptied himself, taking the form of a slave, assuming human likeness. And being found in appearance as a human, he humbled himself and became obedient to the point of death — even death on a cross. Therefore God exalted him even more highly and gave him the name that is above every other name, so that at the name given to Jesus every knee should bend, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Offertory

Rejoice, the Lord Is King
Carillon Ringers
Ralph Manuel, director

arr. Linda Scholes

After he had said this, he went on ahead, going up to Jerusalem. When he had come near Bethphage and Bethany, at the place called the Mount of Olives, he sent two of the disciples, saying, “Go into the village ahead of you, and as you enter it you will find tied there a colt that has never been ridden. Untie it and bring it here. If anyone asks you, ‘Why are you untying it?’ just say this, ‘The Lord needs it.’” So those who were sent departed and found it as he had told them. As they were untying the colt, its owners asked them, “Why are you untying the colt?” They said, “The Lord needs it.” Then they brought it to Jesus, and after throwing their cloaks on the colt, they set Jesus on it. As he rode along, people kept spreading their cloaks on the road. Now as he was approaching the path down from the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to praise God joyfully with a loud voice for all the deeds of power that they had seen, saying, “Blessed is the king who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven, and glory in the highest heaven!” Some of the Pharisees in the crowd said to him, “Teacher, order your disciples to stop.” He answered, “I tell you, if these were silent, the stones would shout out.”

For the Word of God in Scripture,
For the Word of God among us,
And for the Word of God within us,
Thanks be to God!

New pastoral residents named

AMANDA HINES AND JORDANN MCMAHAN, both graduates of Truett Theological Seminary at Baylor University, have been hired as Wilshire's next class of pastoral residents and will begin their two-year terms in August.

Amanda and Jordann will join Maggie Morey and Georgia McKee in the Pathways to Ministry program, which will again have four pastoral residents — the norm for most of the program's 23-year history. No new residents were called in 2022 or 2023 as Wilshire paused to evaluate the program.

"We couldn't be more pleased that Amanda and Jordann will be joining us. Both of them are most talented and eager to learn," said Pathways to Ministry Director Charlie Fuller. "With a full complement of four residents, we'll be back up and running with all the opportunities our complete program provides."

Jordann will complete a Master of Divinity degree in May from Truett, where she was honored as a CBF Vestal Scholar for the current academic year. She currently is co-president of Truett's Women in Ministry Student Organization, serves as a Baylor residence hall chaplain and previously worked for Truett as an associate director of recruitment. She also was an administrative intern for Baptist Women in Ministry. Jordann grew up in Richmond, Virginia, and was ordained by her home church there, Gayton Baptist. She earned a B.A. in philosophy with a concentration in religious studies from Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Virginia. Jordann has been a ministry associate at Freemason Street Baptist and Talbot Park Baptist, both in Norfolk, and is currently completing mentoring field work at Calvary Baptist in Waco.

Amanda earned a Master of Divinity degree with a concentration in spiritual formation from Truett in 2022 and currently works as a project manager for Ideal Impact, a Grapevine-based consultancy for ministry and education. She served as associate pastor for youth and community engagement at Kingwood Christian Church in Houston and completed internships in student ministry at Lubbock's Highland Baptist Church and her home church, First Baptist in Huntsville, Alabama. Amanda also worked for Truett helping to manage its Online Certificate Program and was a summer counselor at Glorieta Camps in New Mexico. She earned a B.S. in human development and family science from Mississippi State University. Amanda is married to Chris; the couple currently lives in Arlington with their corgi, Tater-Tot.

Jordann and Amanda are both licensed spiritual directors through Truett.

The third and fourth houses from the church on Resident Row are currently under renovation and will be ready for the new residents when they arrive this summer. Charlie added, "Please pray for Jordann and Amanda as they finish up their current commitments and make their transition to Dallas and a new place of service."

Wilshire's pastoral residency program began in 2002 and now counts 40 alumni serving around the U.S. and overseas, including Wilshire's own senior pastor, Timothy Peoples.

Someone to talk with.

If you are facing a life challenge and would like to have a spiritual friend to walk alongside you for a season of healing, perhaps you would benefit from a Stephen Minister.

Stephen Ministry pairs trained lay people with individuals in need of Christian companionship during times of life crisis. Wilshire has trained Stephen Ministers available.

To learn more about receiving confidential care from a Stephen Minister, please reach out using our dedicated email address, stephenministry@wilshirebc.org, or call 214-452-3176.

■ April 16: Howard Thurman. Before the marches and speeches of the Civil Rights Movement, there was a quiet force shaping its spiritual foundation. Senior Pastor Timothy Peoples will introduce us to Howard Thurman, a theologian and pastor whose deep well of contemplative prayer nourished the vision of leaders like Martin Luther King Jr.
